

TALDOOR

About us

Since its establishment, Taldoor has been a synonym for doors and a pioneer in the polymer sector.

Over the years, we have developed an extensive and varied product portfolio to match the requirements of our clients and comply with local and international design and safety standards. At Taldoor, we looked to the future and chose our path – to do everything possible to build a better future. We undertook the responsibility to create an ecological and green living environment.

We are determined to develop various products that improve our quality of life, save energy, and reduce carbon footprint.
